Quarterly Newsletter   February 2017

Welcome to our newsletter. It provides bullet inputs for your consumption. If you receive value from this, please share it with your network (e.g., LinkedIn, Facebook, Twitter).

DESIGN EXPERT V10

Design Expert has a few new items that are worth highlighting for users. Any "ignored" data is now highlighted while graphing. This helps ensure outliers can be considered during interpretation. Side by side interpretation graphs are also now available. Cut and paste features have been improved to allow cleaner export to other software. Each item is important to address based on past experiences. In the more advanced category, a new tool has been added called Definitive Screening Designs. This is not a valuable or needed tool (main effects and quadratics only) but that is for another time. There is also a new Design Wizard. It is like many wizard tools; it is best when you already know what you want or need. It may give you another tool option, but you better have a good idea first.

VALUABLE TRAINING COMPONENTS

There are 5 core areas to include with any training program. The specifics will be discussed in future newsletters. This includes items to Remember, Understand, Apply, Evaluate and Create. Balancing these areas properly makes an effective experience. These are included on all topics in classes we provide.

SYSTEMATIC INNOVATION

Last fall I was asked to lead a Systematic Innovation discussion. It started by defining the phrase! It applies to how we make decisions in all business areas, not just R&D. While innovation tools can be helpful, it is beyond that. Yet, a few tools are provided in the link. Systematic processes can help, but it starts with how we think about our own ideas. Where could you benefit most? http://bit.ly/2lbWp0r.

Have a great day!
